

FAQs

Mandatory Inbound Travel insurance 2024

What are the significant features and benefits of Inbound Travel insurance?

Inbound Travel insurance cover for unexpected medical illness or any other uncertainties while travelers are in Tanzania. The basic covers provided are the cost of emergency medical expenses and repatriation expenses (body and medical), personal accident, baggage delay, theft and lost, legal expenses, personal liabilities etc.

What will be the term of my contract?

Policy covers are valid inside of Tanzania for a maximum of 92 consecutive days. The policy covers as per the dates mentioned on the policy certificate.

Why do I need travel insurance while travelling to Zanzibar when I have already medical insurance?

Our Inbound Travel insurance provides you with medical covers for the eligible emergency medical expenses that may not be covered in your medical plan. While your existing medical insurance is valuable, it might not offer the specialized coverage that travel insurance provides.

The comprehensive protection against a variety of travel-related risks, makes travel insurance a necessary and prudent choice for any traveler and is essential even if you already have medical insurance because travel insurance provides a broader range of coverage specifically designed for travel-related incidents and emergencies. This plan also covers other benefits on top of the medical expenses such as loss of baggage, repatriation of body, legal liability etc.

Please refer to your policy terms and conditions.

When should I buy Inbound Travel insurance?

It is advisable to purchase travel insurance straight after you've paid the first deposit for your trip. The earlier you purchase, the sooner you have coverage to protect your trip.

Does Inbound Travel insurance cover terrorism?

Our basic plan does not provide terrorism cover.

What is the maximum number of travel days an Inbound Travel insurance policy covers?

Our Inbound Travel insurance policy covers individual trips up to 92 days per trip. Unlimited trips can be taken during the policy period, up to the maximum days purchased per trip.

Is my Inbound Travel insurance policy renewable?

its non-renewable and if you are still in Zanzibar after 92 days you must purchase a new policy.

Is there any exclusion under my insurance?

Yes, but it is difficult to list all exclusions here. However, the following exclusions are generally not covered:

- Circumstances provoked intentionally by the Beneficiary.
- Foreign or civil war whether declared or not, riot and popular.
- Effects of pollution, natural disasters, and their consequences.
